HOW TO BALLOT

EXPLANATION OF THE SINGLE TRANSFERABLE BALLOT USED IN PROVINCIAL ELECTIONS IN RURAL DIVISIONS

We have been asked several times during the past few weeks to explain off hand the method of voting in provincial elections, also how the ballots are counted in order to make second or third preferences by voters effective.

The ballot used is called the Single Transferable Ballot, meaning that voters express their choices, if they so desire, by use of the figures "1," "2," "3," and so on according to the order in which they prefer the various candidates. Voters must not use the "X" in these provincial elections. To do so makes the ballot invalid and it is then thrown out by the returning officer. Voters must indicate their first choice by the use of the figure "1." If they like they can stop there and their vote is called a "plumper." But it is just as well to exercise the right of choice and make the figure "2" opposite the name of their second preference, and if there are enough candidates in the field to justify it, the exercise of a third choice by use of the figure "3" opposite the name of their third preference. Voters will understand we hope, that the exercise of preferences is largely dictated by the number of candidates nominated. If only two candidates, the figure "1" is enough; if three candidates, the figures "1" and "2" are advisable. If four candidates, choices extend to "3" and so on.

The purpose of the Single Transferable Ballot is to make certain that the candidate finally declared elected really represents the choice of the voters as expressed in their first, second and third preferences. For that reason, the Herald urges voters to exercise at the very least, their second choice in the coming election. These second choice votes are always sure to decide the election in this division.

METHOD OF COUNTING

There is nothing intricate in the preliminary count of ballots in this system of voting. The first choice votes are given first consideration. If any one candidate has a clear majority of first choice votes over all others combined, he is elected forthwith. But in case no such majority is obtained on the first count, the candidate having the least number of first choices is dropped out and his second choice votes are considered and allocated to the others still remaining in the field according to the way they are marked. If this does not result in the election of one candidate by a clear majority, then the next lowest man is dropped and his second choice votes considered and allocated. This process is continued until the final count is between two candidates only, of whom one is almost sure to be declared; but in the event of a tie vote resulting on this last mentioned count, it is our opinion that the returning officer had better throw up his hands and let someone else complete the count.

However, it is very unlikely that it will be necessary to take third choices into account when only four candidates are in the field. Of course, it is among the things that might happen.

counting, we will say that there are four candidates in Lethbridge; Brown, Jenks, Jones and Smith. On the first choice votes Brown gets 1,100; Jenks gets 1,000; Jones gets 900; and Smith gets 800.

Smith being low man, is eliminated. His ballots are looked over for second choices and result like this: Brown gets 200; Jenks gets 300; Jones gets 300. The standing then is: Brown 1,300; Jenks 1,300; Jones 1,200. Jones is eliminated. His first choice ballots are examined for second choices and found to give Brown 350; Jenks 550. The standing then is Brown 1,650; Jenks 1,850. Jenks is thereupon declared elected, as he has a clear majority of first and second choices combined over Brown. —Lethbridge Herald.

W. R. Howson Meeting Well Attended

W. R. Howson, Liberal Leader of Alberta, in company with F. S. Leffingwell, local Candidate for the Warner Constituency, were here last Saturday evening and held a meeting in the High School Auditorium, attended by nearly 100 men and women, who gathered to hear the Liberal solution of our present problems.

T. J. O'Brien was in the chair, and called on Mr. Leffingwell as the first speaker of the evening. Regretting the election coming in the midst of harvest when everyone was so busy, the speaker said it looked very much like the next Government in Alberta would be Liberal, and he thought it should be that way, as prospects were good for a Liberal Government in Ottawa.

Mr. Leffingwell stated that unemployment was largely due to over expansion, and he felt that through a program of public works, the Government should get the people back to work. This however should be profitable and needed work, and cited the expense on the hill north of Warner, as an example where much money had been spent, but very little realized in returns. He also stated he was very much in favor of Water Conservation, and if elected would work unceasingly to have this program carried out. He pledged himself to the re-opening of the School of Agriculture if he were sent to Edmonton, and stated that these schools were a Liberal venture, and he felt should be kept in operation. He expressed himself in favor of lowering the pension age to care for the older people and to take them out of salaried jobs, so the young and able-bodied could have these positions to make them selves independent. Was not in favor of basic dividends for everyone regardless of their needs.

MR. HOWSON SPEAKS

Mr. Howson opened his address by stating that an election was an opportunity for the people to express themselves as to the kind of Government they wanted, and he felt that electorate were dissatisfied with the record of the U.F.A. over the past fourteen years. If however they were satisfied, then they should by all means endorse them. He accused the Government of trying to build their structure on one wall only, viz. the farmer, and stated that with many industries and interest in the Province, any Government should foster and look after all these interests.

People had settled here in hopes of something better for themselves and families and wondered if voters would continue to support a Government that had failed as had the U.F.A.

Speaking of the re-organization of the Liberal party three years ago, he stated that the present platform was the total ideas suggested by people in all walks of life in the Province and felt that it had included the interest of all in its make-up. He was not appealing on party lines nor sentiment, but asked the people to consider a platform to ask themselves these two questions.

"Is it good for Raymond and Alberta?"
"Can it be accomplished?"
In the Liberal platform he felt that it could all be accomplished, and he was sure that it would be good for Alberta. "Unless we change our system of financing, we shall fail, and the U.F.A. is absolutely against Monetary Reform, and we cannot give our children the chances they deserve under our present system" said the speaker. He then read from the records of the House to show efforts of the Liberals to get lower interests, etc. Charged that the U.F.A. was not a Farmer's Government but a Bond Holders Government, and that we should take our public affairs more seriously and get to the bottom of some of these problems.

Turning to Social Credit he advised the people to examine its promises very carefully and try and see the end of the road. So far, he said, we are asked to start down a blind alley without knowing whether or not there is an end to it. No plan could be operated without income whether it were called Taxes or Levy, and was not in favor of taxing the same person as producer and consumer, and then giving dividends whether a person needs them or not. Was impossible to capitalize a Natural Resource of any kind until it could be improved and marketed.

Our present system of relief was raising a generation of bums, and they were not to blame. But if we could get interest free capital, then we could carry on programs of development that would remedy this situation. The Liberals had advocated a Central owned and operated by the Government, so that the Provinces, in creating part of the credit of this Bank, could borrow for Provincial needs without interest. The Alberta branch of this Bank would check our needs and borrowings, to see that nothing was spent unwisely. Asked people to think seriously of their problems.

F. S. Leffingwell spoke of how to mark the Transferable Ballot, and the meeting adjourned after singing the "National Anthem."

Bingham of Magrath pitched the afternoon game and Nielson (twice) the twilight fixture and both were going great guns.

COLORFUL SCENE ON PARLIAMENT HILL AS NEW MINISTER SWORN IN

FURTHER CABINET CHANGES COMING

Ottawa, August 15. After effecting a partial reconstruction of his cabinet involving the wearing in of four ministers, Prime Minister R. B. Bennett Wednesday secured dissolution of the 17th parliament since Confederation. He announced a general election would be held October 14. Writs will be dated Thursday, August 15 and be returnable on Saturday November 9.

The Earl of Bessborough, governor-general of Canada, made a special trip to the Capital from Quebec where he is in summer residence, signed the dissolution order and numerous other orders in council, and left late the same day for Quebec.

It was necessary for the government to pass an order-in-council rescinding that passed some months ago fixing October 14 as Thanksgiving Day and changing the national holiday to October 24. Originally it had been planned to hold the elections on September 30, Mr. Bennett said, but in order to complete the necessary preliminaries, it was then decided to delay polling until October 7.

IF DREAMS COME TRUE

Last evening I was talking
With a printer aged and gray
Who told me of a dream he had Just after Christmas day.

While snoozing in his office,
The vision came in view;
He saw an angel enter,
Dressed in garments white and new.

Said the spirit: "I'm from heaven;
The Lord has sent me down
To bring you up to glory—
Put on your golden crown.

"Many merchants you've made richer,
From few received full pay, While you've grown poor and poorer
And your business did decay.

"So we need you up in glory,
For you have labored hard,
Till your brow is hoary—
You have earned a great reward."

Then the angel and the printer Started toward the golden gate,
When passing close to ladies,
The angel murmured, "Wait!"

Here's a nook I wish to show you:
It's the hottest place in hell,
Where the dubs who beat the printer
In awful torment dwell."

The old printer saw before him
Old patrons by the score;
An easy chair and fan he grabbed
And asked for nothing more.

He sat and sat and watched them;
Saw them sizzle, scorch and burn,
And his former debtors saw him
Whichever way he'd turn.

Said the angel: "Come up higher
And the pearly gates we'll see."
But the printer only answered:
"This is heaven enough for me."

IF WISHES WERE FISHES

During the present campaign, and in listening to the many promises made by the numerous speakers who we have heard we often have thought of the adage "If wishes were fishes, we'd all have a fry." Ad, if all promises were possible of fulfillment, we would never have another speak of trouble in our Provincial affairs. There seems to be a cure for every trouble during campaign time, but, when these promises have to be fulfilled, then it is another problem, and one by one the glowing promises of campaign time become discarded.

Always we hear the charge of this and that Government being a forgetful government. Over a period of twenty to twenty-five years, every government we have ever seen take office could qualify for that title. We know of bridges promised twenty years ago, where people are still fording, and of various other projects that we re all built and in operation during campaign and in promises, but that was as far as they ever got, and promised bridges don't help much when they are needed.

We often think that in connection with these matters, opposition in government are like doctors. After a man dies, any of them can tell what should have been done to cure him, but while he is alive, they are reticent about offering any help to the Doctor with the responsibility of making the sick well. All of us after a failure happens, or after a mistake has been made, can see what should have been done to prevent it. But up to the time the blunder is made, we are as blind as the blunderer. After his mistake, even he knows the cause of it, and then our well thought advice is useless.

At any rate, we are having a gay time in the present campaign. If the columns of newspaper stories, and the millions of square feet of hot air that have been used up in this campaign were treasured up, we could run the country for generations on the advice that has been given, and heat the province for many years on the hot air that has been peddled. Apparently we rather enjoy it. And surely, the speakers must enjoy thinking how well they are changing our opinions, and what an ironclad line of argument they are putting up. After all, I wonder just how many people are ever changed in their way of thinking by the messages they hear at these meetings. Some, of course, but most people know just about what to look for and expect, and they go to hear how well the story can be told and the yarn spun, rather than in expectation of having any very great impression made on their line of thinking by the message they get.

Another week will see the show over, anyway, and probably before another election arrives human nature and campaigns will have changed entirely.

WHAT OTHERS ARE SAYING

Hon. J. F. Lymburn, in a radio broadcast at Edmonton

"Assuming that Mr. Aberhart proposes to put his plan in to operation and that each person to whom a basic dividend has been given issues one non-negotiable certificate per day against his account at the state credit house, the total number of certificates issued in one year would amount to 135,000,000. You will agree that one transaction per person per day is not an excessive estimate.

"At the present time, the government conducts its entire business by issuing 400,000 cheques per annum, at a cost of 10 cents per cheque. This covers bookkeeping and checking services involved.

"At this rate, the cost of handling 135,000,000 certificates would be $13,500,000. It would require an army of 14,500 civil servants to do the necessary bookkeeping.

Here and There

Five percheron stallions, smartly groomed cavalry chargers of the mounted police, racing and pacing horses and ponies trained in jumping and for the hunting field mingle at the village of Montebello, P.Q., on the north shore of the Ottawa, for the annual Selkirk Club Horse Show this summer during August 15-18, Thursday to Sunday. The event is under the patronage of His Excellency the Governor-General and Canadian and American society folks are expected in large numbers.

Enjoying a short stay at the Banff Springs Hotel on his way to taking up his post in London, His Excellency T. Matsudaira, Japanese Ambassador to Great Britain, stated to an interviewer, "I prefer just to enjoy myself and to forget for a few hours that there are more arduous duties than the contemplation of this lovely place."

Addressing a gathering of the Rotary Club of Victoria at the Empress Hotel, recently, Premier Joseph A. Lyons, of Australia, pointed to the British Empire as a great force for peace and urged Canada to cultivate a more favorable trade with his own country. Last year, he said, Australia bought from Canada $18,000,000 worth of goods, while Canada bought from Australia only $9,600,000 worth.

The Algonquin Hotel, St. Andrews-by-the-Sea, New Brunswick, opened for the summer season at the end of June, and is now the centre of much holiday activity. Their Excellencies the Governor-General and Lady Bessborough were among the guests and the famous Katy's Cove bathing beach is again as in former years very popular with the children and the younger set.

With the increasing popularity of vacation trips on the Great Lakes, the Canadian Pacific has expanded its Great Lakes steamship service to include calls at Port Arthur on westbound voyages as well as eastbound. These ships have been outfitted with deck sports, including quoits, shuffleboard and deck golf. Dancing and music bring pleasure to the evening hours. The schedule makes it possible to take an enjoyable week's trip going either way with overnight stops at both ends, Port McNicoll and Port William.

The Maritimes are again this year attracting a large number of tourists from Canada and the United States. Across the Bay of Fundy there is a very pleasant steamer trip from Saint John to Digby where the Pines Hotel is located and from Boston to Yarmouth with the well known Lakeside Inn, there are regular sailings. Also the Cornwalls Inn at Kentville is a first-class centre for trips to the famous Evangeline Country around Grand Pre.

August is the peak month at the Banff Springs Hotel when between August 26-31 golf enthusiasts of the world will compete in the historic Prince of Wales Trophy and the Willingham Cup. The course, a mile above sea-level and set in the midst of some of the most glorious scenery on the continent, is the heart of the play.

WEEKLY LETTER
POULTRY MITE CONTROL

This is the time of the year when mites may be a source of considerable trouble to poultry and if their ravages are not checked they cause heavy losses. The poultryman at this Station stresses the need for continued vigilance during the summer season. The mites do not live on the birds during the day but will be found in the dark cracks and crevices of the drop boards, roosts and nests, from where they attack their unsuspecting hosts during the night.

The method of control used and recommended at this Station is to thoroughly clean the house and spray all possible hiding places with a mixture of low grade coal oil and a standard disinfectant.

If mites are present in any number this procedure should be followed every ten days until control is obtained. At this station the mites have been so completely controlled by this method that last summer it was necessary to spray only once and this summer mites have not yet appeared although a careful examination is made at least once a week. No mites have ever been found in the houses in which the young stock is kept and this freedom from mites is maintained by thoroughly cleaning and disinfecting the houses each spring and by raising the young stock separate from the mature

BEES

Honey is being extracted at Beekeeper, H. T. Luther, has to cause the disease, poliomyelitis, when disease actually is or infantile paralysis. But the Station apiary. The Head the following suggestions to make to the amateur beekeeper regarding August operations. It is well to start about August 10th to reduce super room by removing all well capped honey and so dispense with any unnecessary supers. The bees should have sufficient room to take care of any reasonable flow of honey during August, but should not have unnecessary space that has to be kept warm. It is assumed that all colonies have strong laying queens, i.e. that the necessary dequeening has already been done. It is also well to look to the preparation to the brood chamber, if colonies are to be wintered by seeing that straight good combs are supplied and that no frames are left that have candied honey in the corners or contain any old dried pollen.

ALLURING EYES

What miracles of beauty can happen today to eyes which are naturally insignificant perhaps even small and pale.

The cause of this miracle is a makeup item which few women appreciate or understand the use of. I am referring to the mysterious eye shadow.

Our grandmothers would have raised their hands in horror at the use of eye shadow. Even up to a few years ago, a woman who used eye shadow took her reputation in her hands.

But, let us go farther back than a mere generation or two: as far back as the ancients.

Thousands of years ago, in cultured Egypt, women spent time and energy over their beauty rites. They stressed especially beautiful eyes, and, consequently made use of Kohl, a darkener. Applied with the artistic touch they used so well, it heightened the allure of eyes making them like deep pools of mystery.

Today, our modern beauty science has transformed kohl into a much more subtle beauty weapon than it was centuries ago. At first only a few women of this generation dared to borrow its charm. Now, smart women everywhere make use of it fearlessly.

Used subtly, in the daytime it makes the eyes larger. In the evening, it adds infinite beauty to the face. And, so ubiquitous is its use now, that the majority of women would as soon be without powder as without this last touch of loveliness.

When used cleverly, you may go out fearlessly defying detection. Lightly darken the upper lid, for the daytime, but apply it more generously in the evening, extending its area. In fact, if you will remember merely to heighten the natural shadows, you cannot overdo the effect.

There is an iridescent blue-green for the exotic brunette type, as Cleopatra herself was. This is also excellent for the blonde who has a dark skin. The burnette with fair skin and light colored eyes will look ravishing with the iridescent blue. Warmth is added to pale eyes with violet eyeshadow; and a girl with high color can provide the right accent for the eyes with the grey, flecked with silver.

YOU CAN'T STOP
STOKING A STEAM
ENGINE -- SAID WRIGLEY

Interviewed, and asked to what he attributed his phenomenal success, the late Mr. Wrigley, of chewing gum fame, replied, "To the consistent advertising of a good product."

"But," asked the reporter, "having captured practically the entire market, why continue to spend vast sums annually in advertising?"

Wrigley's reply was illuminating.

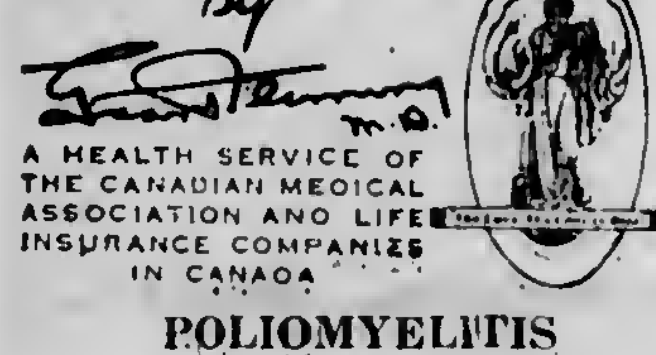

Once having raised steam in an engine, he stated, it requires continuous stoking to keep it up. Advertising stokes up business and keeps it running on a full head of steam.

This applies to YOUR business, too. Don't make a secret of your product. Tell people about it. Tell them what it does. Tell them its advantages. Tell them where to get it. Tell them through the Press and keep on telling them.

HEALTH

POLIOMYELITIS

"In the morning I was discovered to be affected with the fever. It held me three days. On the fourth, when they went to bathe me as usual, they discovered that I had lost the power of my right leg." So wrote Sir Walter Scott in describing how he was attacked by poliomyelitis, or infantile paralysis.

Poliomyelitis is a communicable disease belonging to that group of diseases caused by a virus. This virus is spread from the sick to the well, and from those carriers who harbour the virus although apparently perfectly well. The transfer is made via the secretions of the nose and mouth, in which secretions the virus leaves the body of the sick person or the carrier.

It does appear that the virus is widespread and that the vast majority of persons receive the disease; they do, ing it into their bodies do not or resistance to the disease however, develop an immunity because of their experience.

Unfortunately this does not always happen, and in some persons, the virus, for reasons which we do not know, is able to cause paralysis which is the typical symptom in the public mind.

The virus of poliomyelitis invades the spinal cord, and the paralysis which results is due to the destruction of nerve cells in the cord which control the action of muscles. The cells which are destroyed never grow again; damaged ones may recover.

Why this disease should usually shows itself during July, and, if an epidemic does occur, reach its peak toward the end of August, we do not know. It is not a disease of the tropics, but rather one of the temperate zones, the lands of changeable climates.

There is hope that soon we shall have some means for the specific prevention of this disease. In the meantime, parents and others responsible for children are advised that, as occasional cases occur even when there is no epidemic, to consult their doctor if their child becomes feverish, drowsy or irritable, or if he suffers from vomiting, or pains in the head, back or extremities. To put it more simply, a child who is out of sorts should have the benefit of medical advice. Early diagnosis means early treatment which offers most for the child.

Waiting for the King

Canadian undergraduates who go to the Old Country in their summer vacations enjoy many unusual sights and meetings but the group shown above, encountered its biggest thrill when the royal automobile was stopped and the King and Queen chatted with them about Canada.

This party is one of many from Canadian universities that visited Great Britain this year under the auspices of the Overseas Education League by the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Britain. They visited England, Scotland, Ireland and Wales and saw many famous schools and colleges in the British Isles, in addition to the sight-seeing features that are a part of every Old Country tour. The group was viewing Buckingham Palace from the Mall when Their Majesties got out for a drive. They stopped the car and chatted with the Canadian students for 10 or 15 minutes.

Mr. and Mrs. Arlo Palmer of Wrentham, were Raymond visitors Thursday last.

Ilyrum Fromm was given a blood transfusion on Thursday and in the afternoon was feeling considerably better.

One thing is certain the election campaign is helping gasoline and oil sales throughout the Province, and speeding up business without Social Credit Dividends.

Mr. and Mrs. Lyman H. Jacobs, returned from their trip to Utah last week, and were in Raymond Saturday to see about a home for the coming school year.

King Motors have sold three new Ford two ton Trucks the past few days. The buyers were Philip Baker, S. Floyd Wilde, and A. E. Footoe. Lon and Shirley came home Thursday night from Calgary with two of them.

J. P. Strong, oldest son of Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Strong, recently passed his examinations as Train Despatcher for the Canadian Pacific Telegraph, and is home again in Camrose.
Passing this exam, makes Jerry, as his friends know him, a full fledged despatcher and will be on call whenever he is needed.

The rain Thursday night measured .15 inches and the lowest temperature was 39 above. These figures are from Mr.
Burnett at the A. C. School.

Word was broadcast over the Radio this morning at 10 a.m.
that Will Rogers and Wiley Post, on a holiday flight to Alaska, had both been killed when their plane crashed near Fairbanks, Alaska. The movie goers of the entire world will regret keenly the sudden death of Rogers, who was undoubtedly the choice of the greatest number of movie fans, because of his everyday philosophy and his true to life characterizations.

AN OUTSIDE VIEW OF SOCIAL CREDIT

The more we think about it the more we wonder why Social Credit people accept without protest the dictation from Calgary as to the candidate to contest the provincial seats. It is so undemocratic a method, Mr.
Aberhart and his committee sitting down in an office in Calgary and saying who shall be the candidate in far off Peace River and nearby Okotoks-High River. The Winnipeg Tribune comes right to the point and says:

"Never before in Canadian politics has a party submitted to the electors a complete slate of candidates hand-picked at headquarters by a boss. It looks as if the Social Credit party is vulnerable not only in its crazy economies but in its political methods. The Aberhart system of nominations looks very like an importation of Fascist technique into Canada."

That is an outside viewpoint it is true, but outsiders oftentimes see things more clearly and understandingly than those retually upon the scene. Had the Winnipeg Tribune known that Mr. Aberhart and his committee did not pay heed to the nominations made by the Social Credit convention in Calgary and went over its head to put two persons who had not been voted for by the convention on the ticket, it might have declared that a political leader emulating the methods of Mussolini in Italy had turned up in Alberta.
